Denver Oil Operator Is Shot By Miss Normand's Chauffeur

Conflicting Stories Told By Principals; Two Figured In Taylor Murder Case; Jealousy Probable Motive

MOVIE STARS FIGURE IN SHOOTING EPISODE

Mabel Normand

Edna Purviance

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., January 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The infatuation of a chauffeur for his film actress employer and his jealousy of her wealthy Denver acquaintance, according to the police, were the motives that prompted Joe Kelly, alias H. A. Greer, to shoot Courtland S. Dines, of two moving picture stars, Mabel Normand and Edna Purviance.

Officers working on the case made this statement as they were leaving for Miss Normand's residence to question Mrs. Ruth Buras, companion of the film actress, who, it is declared, sent Miss Normand's chauffeur, Greer, to bring the film actress home from the Dines apartment.

Greer is being held by the police on a charge of attempted murder, but the officers declare no action will be taken with regard to the two actresses present at the shooting "unless there are further developments."

Dines has a good chance for recovery, according to attending physicians. The bullet from the .25 caliber pistol used by Greer but said to belong to Miss Normand, entered his body near the heart, and came out his back.

Dines, a Denver oil operator, was conscious and is certain he will recover. He again declared today that Greer's story of the shooting was false. He denied the chauffeur's statement as given out by the police that he had made any threatening movement to prompt the shooting. He also reiterated his denial that he and Miss Purviance were engaged to be married.

Greer, according to the police, has been in Miss Normand's employ only six months. He is said to have come here from New York, where he also worked as a chauffeur.

The names of both the film actresses, who were present at the shooting of Dines figured in the unsolved murder of William Desmond Taylor, prominent motion picture director, who was killed here in February, 1922.

Edna Purviance was a neighbor of the slain man and told having seen his home brilliantly lighted late on the night of the killing.

Mabel Normand came forward as the last person found by the police who saw the murdered director alive. She had been with him alone within fifty minutes of the time fixed by physicians as the hour in which he died. Her picture was in the dead man's pocket.

"The Taylor case," as it has come to be called, developed a baffling mystery for the investigating officers. The film director's former valet, Edward P. Sands, still is being sought in connection with it.

Taylor's body was found on the morning of February 2, 1922, on the floor of his luxuriously furnished bachelor apartment, a fatal bullet wound in the neck.

Six Perish In "Shooting" Pennsylvania Oil Well

Picture of Health

Mabel L. Phil of New Britain, Conn., recently won a prize for being the healthiest person in the senior class at Mt. Holyoke College.

Picture of Health

FRANKLIN, PA., January 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Exploding nitro-glycerine yesterday brought death to six persons about to take part in "shooting" an oil well on the farm of John A. Stone, five miles from here. The dead are: Paul Stone, son of the owner of the well, and his wife, Herbert Whitman, John Whitman, Eugene H. Neil and Robert Kinner.

Kinner, who was standing over the two cans of nitro-glycerine which was to have been used in "shooting" the well, was so dismembered that no recognizable part of his body has been found. All the others, while barely disfigured by the explosion, were capable of identification.

Treasures to the blast, Kinner had warned all spectators of danger attending the handling of the explosive in cold weather and urged them to stand away. J. D. Scriven took the advice and was about 100 feet away when the explosion took place. He was knocked to the ground, but escaped serious injury, leaving his leg "winded to see it all."

Lawrence Mamhiney, a survivor, had gone to a nearby creek for water to use in shooting. Although portions of the wrecked derrick fell about both Mamhiney and Scriven, neither was injured.

Kenmore Mayor Forces Door To Get Into Office

ARRON, O., January 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Denied the right to take possession of the mayor's office at Kenmore because of the fact that the predecessor in office, Mayor Samuel Goodman, refused to turn over the keys to him, Mayor H. V. Johnson assumed the reins of office this morning by forcing the door of the office and taking complete possession. He met with no interference.

Goodman refuses to recognize the right of Johnson to hold office as mayor pending a decision by Common Pleas Court here as to the legality of his election. Goodman has petitioned the court for a recount of votes cast in the November election when he was apparently defeated by 37 votes.

Johnson won the first blow Monday when Common Pleas Judge E. P. Hoyland refused to grant Goodman an injunction restraining Johnson from taking office. Hearing on the recount case will be held Thursday.

Carefully Awaited Chance To Murder

Brown was sleeping on a bed in the room into which the bullet was fired.

Brown was found fatally wounded when his groans attracted investigators to his room and died last night without having regained consciousness. Officers said that when an effort was made to ascertain the identity of the occupant of the room from which the bullet was fired it was found names on the hotel register had been almost completely erased during the absence of the clerk.

Former Local Woman Killed, Husband Seriously Injured in Automobile Accident In Cincinnati

The Times Star Wednesday said: Mrs. Freda Lucas, 35 years old, 2857 Harrison avenue, was killed and her husband, Fred Lucas, 31 was seriously injured when an automobile driven by John Malone, 1632 Taff road, crashed into a telephone pole at the intersection of Harrison and Lafayette avenues, known as "Dead Man's Curve," shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday morning. Malone and Miss Clara Lucas, 2113 Stratford avenue, Clifton Heights, the other occupants of the car, were only slightly hurt.

Mrs. Lucas's skull was fractured and both her legs were broken. Physicians at the General Hospital said that she probably died instantly. Lucas, a salesman for the National Hardware company, was cut and bruised and injured internally. Little hope is held out for his recovery.

According to Miss Lucas, they had attended a New Year's celebration at the home of a relative, Mr. James, of 4012 Harrison avenue, Clifton, and were on their way to services in a downtown church. The Lucases were married 20 months less than a year ago.

Examination of the marriage licenses at the Court House for the past five years failed to reveal any having been issued to Fred Lucas.

Issues Call For Conclave Of Klan To Cleanse It Or Disband Organization

ATLANTA, GA., January 2.—(By the Associated Press)—E. Y. Clarke, former imperial wizard, today issued a call for a conclave of the Klan to meet in Atlanta February 26, to "take up the question of the future of the organization to eliminate existing evils, or else to follow the example of the founder of the original Ku Klux Klan, and have the courage and manhood to devise ways and means for the immediate disbandment of the organization."

The proclamation of Clarke calls attention to the organization of the Klan on July 4, 1916, by William Joseph Simmons, now emperor, and says that "these laudable aims, ideals, principles and purposes have apparently been abandoned by the Klan and the organization because of the lack of leadership and the lack of a central authority." He says that the end of the "bitter war" between the emperor and imperial wizard is not in sight.

"With the above conditions existing and with the federal government and the courts of the land becoming increasingly alarmed over the situation," Mr. Clarke's proclamation says that "the members of the Klan of all ranks and nations to gather together and consider means of 'eliminating evils' or the disbandment of the organization."

The proclamation directs all officials of the Klan, regardless of faction and differences or alignments to take the necessary steps to see that every Klan in the nation is represented by one or more delegates, including the emperors of each Klan.

"I have issued the call for the national congress of Klansmen," said Clarke, "in answer to insistent demand that I allow the real Klansmen of the nation to get together without intimidation and autocratic rule and discuss frankly conditions inside the organization."

Couple Guilty Of Delinquency, Fined, Sent To Jail; Mother Has Babe In Arms

When Mrs. Henry Hiles, of McCollough, appeared in Probate court and admitted guilt of acts tending to cause the delinquency of Floyd Rose, Odel Gillett and Ed Williams, McDermott youths, she was fined $25 and costs and sent to jail for thirty days by Judge Gilliland. Her husband, Henry Hiles, was found guilty under a similar charge, and he was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for three months.

A three months old infant child which Mrs. Hiles carried in her arms was taken to the jail by the mother.

The complaints were filed by F. W. Ricker, Probate court agent, showing an investigation which disclosed that the Hiles had furnished the three youths liquor which they carried to McDermott for some structural steel workers employed there.

A petition signed by a score of citizens of the McCollough neighborhood, was received by Sheriff Harry M. Dunham today urging the court to release Mrs. Hiles from prison on account of her baby. The petition which was directed to Judge Gilliland will probably be presented to him late today or Thursday, it was said.

Hiles was fined $25 and costs by Judge Gilliland and sent to jail on a similar charge, but the fine in respect to the latter was suspended by the magistrate.

Firm, Plump Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am 27 years of age and am thinking seriously of marrying a man of 30. Now Dolly, I don't know that I am five years his senior as I look young for my age and he looks older than thirty. I can feel him all right now, but I was just wondering if it would pay in the long run as they do say that a woman ages faster than a man and I would hate to get so old and sold that I would look more like his mother than his wife. Just what is your opinion on this matter?

Dear Dolly—Could you offer a little advice to an amateur writer? I am very fond of writing, but as yet I have never written anything worth while, or anything that excels myself and for that reason I have never tried to get anything I have written accepted by a paper or magazine. My main trouble is that I find it so hard to express myself at times. What could I study that would help. I do all my own work and do not have a great deal of time to apply myself. Any advice you can give me will be appreciated.

Dear Dolly—I used to know a boy whom I thought the world of but he went away and I don't know where he went. Dolly, can you tell me where I can find him?

Dear Dolly—This may not be very consoling advice, but if he wanted you to know his whereabouts, he would write. Since he did not write, I think the best thing you can do is to forget him.

Oblique—You are not compelled to live with a man who threatens your life and the lives of your relatives. Such a man is more dangerous to be at large and I would advise you to see that he is put where he will not harm you, or anyone else.

Dear Dolly—I would like to know if there is a law against confining getting married and if so why? I have a cousin that I like real well and would like much better if I thought that we had a chance of getting married. Would like to hear from you on this subject.

INTERESTED READER
A number of states have a law against the marriage of first cousins, because medical men say that hereditary weaknesses are more easily transmitted through two members of the same family than they would be through one.

Dear Dolly—I would like to know what I could do for a red face. My cheeks are always flushed just like I was blushing, and people tease me a great deal about them. Do you know what I could do to make them white?

WORRIED GIRL
If your face is unusually red, it should advise you to see a physician for it must be owing to an unhealthy physical condition that makes it so. But if it is a natural condition and you feel perfectly well be thankful that Mother Nature has been so generous with her brush and that you do not have to get your color out of a box as so many girls do nowadays.

Dear Dolly—Since you help so many people in so many different ways I was wondering if you knew of any one who might have a sweat cabinet that a sick man might use to take the sweat baths. He will need a short time and it will be a great help to him. If I am sending you my name and address in case you get any replies to this letter.

P. J. W.

"I still haven't found my lost people!" said the Sandman

Nancy and Nick and Daddy Gander helped Mister Sandman to sweep up his spilled sand. Daddy Gander got his magic dustpan and Nancy found where the Old Shoe Woman kept her broom and they soon had every grain of it up.

They didn't guess for one minute that the greatest damage of all had been done quite outside the Old Shoe House. They didn't know that when the sand tickled their noses and every one of them had sneezed his head off nearly that a great many grains had floated out of the patch door-way and over the house tops to the house that Jack built. And that the party that Jack and Jill were giving had come to a sudden end.

Mister Piper, Tom's father, who was blowing out his cheeks like apples and playing a merry jig on his pipe, suddenly let his head sink on his breast and began to snore.

The three fiddlers brought by King Cole, suddenly stopped their bows, their fiddles fell from their chins, and their heads dropped over like top-pins.

King Cole himself dancing with the Queen of Hearts, was making a gorgeous bow when the sleepy sand struck him in the eye, and he sank to a heap at her feet—sound asleep. The Queen herself, ready for a curtsy, gave one yawn and fell back into a rocking chair—dead to the world. And every one of the Daddy Gander Land people from the Crooked Man to the Sprits, fell asleep at Jack and Jill's party.

The Old Shoe Woman and her children among them.

Jack and Jill and Misses John, too, fell asleep still looking for the missing pins that the Twins had gone to hunt. Misses John in the pantry. Jill in the

Some say the first harbinger of Spring is the robin; but long before the robin leaves his southern home, lovely silk frocks with their message of spring, brighten the cabinets at The Fashion. In fact they have already made their appearance. And what beauties they are!

Here is a charming frock by The Co-ed Dressmakers of the new crepe print with collar and pockets of cerise valenciennes. Here a Queen frock of black canton literally covered with steel cut heads. Here, a new lawn colored crepe deliciously conceived with puffs and drapings. And many others. Come in and see them. The girls delight in displaying them for you.

Days of Big New Year's Receptions At The White House Have Passed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(By the A. P.)—Reception was furnished at the White House Tuesday that days of the New Year's receptions at the executive mansion have passed, apparently because the American people have come to a realization that such affairs that wear out the chief executive.

Time was when the New Year's receptions brought eight to ten thousand people to the White House but when today's reception ended it was found that less than 4,000—a total of 3,801 to be exact—had shaken hands with President and Mrs. Coolidge. The last previous reception, that given by President and Mrs. Harding in 1922, was attended by more than 7,500 persons and in the days of the Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft administrations, there scarcely ever were less than 8,000 visitors to the executive mansion.

Marked By Brilliance
Tuesday's reception, according to old White House attaches, was equal in color and brilliance, however, to any of those of previous years. The famous first floor rooms of the mansion were decorated beautifully yet simply with flowers and plants from the White House conservatories and the usual brilliance attended the reception of the foreign diplomats dressed in their state uniforms and the high officers of the army, navy and marine corps.

President and Mrs. Coolidge descended the broad stairway from the upper apartments promptly at 11 o'clock, attended by military aides and to the accompaniment of "Hail to the Chief" from the full band. The chief executive and the first lady took their places in the Blue room in front of a lighted Christmas tree and until shortly before 3 o'clock, with the exception of an interval of 15 minutes for lunch, a steady stream passed by them. Mrs. Coolidge wore a gown of red chiffon, beaded in a rose design in dark blue velvet with shoes to match. She wore no jewelry.

Cabinet Members First

First to extend greetings were the members of the cabinet and their wives, and then came the members of the diplomatic corps, next the judiciary, then the higher officers of the army, navy and marine corps, officials of all the various bureaus and agencies of the government, representatives of patriotic and civic organizations, and finally the general public.

The president suitably acknowledged and Mrs. Coolidge graciously received the wishes for the new year extended by every one of those who passed. Arrangements had been made to expedite matters as much as possible and often as many as forty to forty-five persons were greeted in a minute.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creosol, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosol is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creosol contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation. While the creosote goes on to the stomach, it is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption.

Creosol is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, catarrhal tracheitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creosol Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT ENDORSES THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., January 2.—(By the A. P.)—An overwhelming expression in favor of the League of Nations and the World Court of International Justice as the best means of preventing war was voiced today in the final sessions of the International convention of the student volunteer movement, in which the United States and Canada formally approved a statement embodying the sentiment of the gathering.

"We believe that war is unchristian and that the League of Nations is the best means of preventing it, but we would resort to war in case an unavoidable dispute had been referred to the league or world court without successful settlement," the approved expression declared.

The viewpoint was selected by the convention from four presented by student speakers, embodying every shade of opinion from an endorsement of preparedness to approval of non-resistance and a refusal to "sanction or participate directly in any future war."

Majority Pacificists

A declaration of preparedness received the vote of approximately 300 delegates; and a statement defined by the chair as embodying the "absolute pacifist stand" was approved by about 500 students. Two middle-of-the-road pronouncements, one urging organized education against militarism and the other pointing to international tribunals as the road away from war, were approved by votes of 5,000 and 6,000 respectively. Delegates were permitted to vote on as many of the declarations as they wished, and many who first approved the educational program also declared later for the league endorsement.

Majority sentiment in the convention, as revealed in some fifty discussion gatherings during the five-day meeting, Chairman Harris told the convention centered on methods of establishing and strengthening agencies for international justice through judicial procedure.

Would Outlaw War

"Many delegates advocated the outlawing of war through legislative enactment, but by far the predominant sentiment was in favor of the League of Nations and the World Court as the most promising instruments of avoiding war. The absolute pacifist stand also was rejected by the majority."

Suggestions for organizing student sentiment against war had come from many of the discussion groups, he said, and in this, it appeared, the majority favored organization of student forums in the various institutions.

TRAFFIC VICTIMS DIE

Shigley, insurance agent, died as the result of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile December 27. ## Two Of Runaways Captured But Portsmouth Girl Still At Large DELAWARE, O., January 2.—(By the A. P.)—Della Blum, 17, and Mary Pike, 16, both of Cleveland, two of the wards of the Girls' Industrial school who ran away during disorders at the institution Friday night, were captured Tuesday afternoon near Sunbury, a village in eastern Delaware county. This capture revealed for the first time that the Pike girl had run away. In the checkup Saturday, only two girls, Della Blum and Pearl Keener, 18, of Portsmouth, were reported missing.

The two girls captured said the Keener girl started with them from the school, but left them at Dublin, supposedly to make her way to her home in southern Ohio.

The girls were apprehended by a farmer, Henry Fessel, residing on the O. C. C. highway, when they came to his home for food. He took them to the jail at Sunbury where they were locked up for Sheriff Fred O. Harter, who brought them to Delaware county jail. Officials at the home were notified of their capture and expect to return them to the institution today.

Travelers

The runaways, dirty and unkempt from their wanderings, say they hid out Friday night in the disposal plant at the home until the excitement had subsided. That night they made their way to Dublin where they parted company, two headed north and the other south. They claimed they had little food and were tired of sleeping in hays. Both expressed a desire to be returned to the home.

W. Va. Woman To Seek Senate Post

WASHINGTON, January 2.—(By the A. P.)—Announcement that Mrs. Izetta J. Brown would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in West Virginia this year was made here today upon the basis of a dispatch received from Wheeling, West Virginia. She contested unsuccessfully for the nomination against Senator Neely in 1922. In a statement to the voters today she said:

"Thousands of you approved your faith in me when against apparently long odds you cast your vote for me in 1922. I want to prove my faith in you, my faith in our enduring, mutual ideals of services to our state and nation. In this spirit I again submit my name for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate."

Gulf Coast

The American Riviera

SO CALLED because it resembles the Mediterranean resorts in ideal climate, indescribably exquisite coloring, opaque waters, gorgeous flowers, and magnificent trees. Indeed the Gulf Coast surpasses the European Riviera because of its healthful scent of pines and absence from dust.

For a distance of 243 miles—New Orleans, through Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Gulfport, Biloxi, Ocean Springs and Mobile to Pensacola—the climate is like Alexandria, Egypt; not too tropical, hot, not too cool, but JUST RIGHT, the touch of luxurious languor being quickly followed by northern "pep" which puts keen enjoyment into every move.

The Gulf Coast is the most interesting part of America. New Orleans alone has inexhaustible romance and history. The old French quarter is the nearest thing to Paris. Pensacola claims the oldest American habitation. Mobile possesses the greatest degree of true Southern hospitality, while Pass Christian and Biloxi are distinguished by having been chosen as ideal vacation spots by two American presidents—Roosevelt and Wilson. There is no place where living is so enjoyable. New Orleans French cooking. Pass Christian oysters. Biloxi shrimp. Mobile Satsuma oranges and Pensacola fresh fish are merely stray items in your inexpensive menu.

Contracts are being made. Your fire-proof hotel is on the shore. Waters explorers sailed early Roman Catholic cathedrals stand next skyscrapers; in a single block you hear whizz bang along, pure Castilian and perfect French. Golf courses often cover a storic ground, you hook the same sort of fish De Soto caught, you play, dance, motor and hunt with the identical care-free delight which characterized the early soldiers of fortune.

You'll know more, love better and live longer by visiting the Gulf Coast. It's an easy thing to do and comparatively inexpensive because the offers round-trip winter tourist reduced fares, in addition to which it permits its Florida passengers to go or return through Pensacola, free, and for only a few dollars more to go or return through Mobile, New Orleans and the entire Gulf Coast.

So make no final arrangements for southern trips before applying for full details of the special routing advantages possessed exclusively by the L. & N., the only line comprehensively serving the entire Gulf Coast country, affording a panoramic view of all of these popular resorts from the car windows.

YORK, N. Y., January 2.—
 Making sales deferred until after close of 1923 were the chief influence in directing price movements in the suburban market on the first business day of the New Year. The supply from this source was most pronounced in the petroleum issues that were generally sold at a discount when an upward movement was expected. A long way in discounting in the petroleum industry is an expected essential change conditions during the New Year.
 These stocks sustained losses from one to over 45 points.

Standard Oil of Nebraska sustained the greatest loss in the group falling 29 points on moderate sales, and South Penn Oil showed a loss of six points.

Prairie Oil and gas, after an opening advance of one point, dropped six points, but quickly recovered this loss. Standard Oil of Indiana, Kansas and New York declined about one point and a loss of over two points was sustained in Standard Oil of Ohio. Prairie Pipe Line was exceptionally strong, moving up about one point. A new feature was presented in initial trading of Laclede petroleum.
 Industrial issues moved within a narrow range and some in-Gold Dust was a strong feature in an advance of about one point.

 Corn Products new stock, which sold at a new high on a fraction advance, but reacted later. Uties, which was under pressure, was in better demand advanced about three points.
 Motor continued in demand advanced over two points.
 The stocks were generally higher above it. A firm tone was Brooklyn City railroad and of Coal. Radio issues continued demand around the high level reached.

NEW YORK, N. Y., January 2.—Profit taking sales deferred until after the close of 1923 were the chief influence in directing price movements on the curb market on the first business day of the New Year. The supply from this source was most pronounced in the petroleum issues that have been vigorous since last October when an upward movement had gone a long way in discounting improvement in the petroleum industry and an expected essential change in conditions during the New Year. Many of these stocks sustained losses ranging from one to over 15 per cent.

OBITUARY

William Leslie Davis

William Leslie Davis, son of Charles H. and Mrs. Sarah R. Davis, was born in Greenup county, Kentucky, Nov. 14, 1900. When he was eleven months old his mother passed away. Since that time he had been tenderly cared for by his father's widowed sister, Mrs. Samantha Davis Bush. When a boy, his father moved to New Boston where they have since resided. On Dec. 24th, he was united in marriage with Miss Agnes James of New Boston. Their happiness was short-lived, as Leslie was shot down on Christmas day, Jan. 1918 he joined the navy and served during the late war.

Leslie was a sheet mill worker, but of late had been employed in the new rod mill. Beside his grief stricken wife, his father and step mother and aunt, he is survived by one brother, John, of Pittsburgh. Of a sunny disposition and holding grudge to no man he will be sadly missed by a host of friends. The funeral services were in charge of Rev. H. E. Ketchum of Wheelersburg Baptist church. Interment in the Wheelersburg cemetery.

Portsmouth Dry Goods Co. Buy Stock; To Conduct Big Sale

How to get two stores into one is the problem that is confronting the Proprietor and employees of The Portsmouth Dry Goods Co. for the past few days. Since purchasing the entire output of the largest general store at Higginport, Ohio, at receiver's sale, some time ago, not a day has gone by but what many plus boxes have been received at the store. These were taken to the basement and unpacked. Then came the problem where to put the merchandise, which consists of groceries, drugs, clothing for men, women and children, shoes, dry goods, etc. As is generally known, the Portsmouth Dry Goods Co. carries a heavy stock and is really crowded for space, but by careful unloading, practically all of the bankrupt stock has been placed, preparatory to a big sale which will be conducted soon.

Mr. A. Bein, proprietor of the store, stated that his attention to the disposal of the bankrupt stock was directed through the reading of a New York newspaper, while he was in the East recently. While in a hotel lobby he picked up a paper and noticed that a local law firm, Miller & Seaver, has been employed by Portsmouth creditors for the store at Higginport. It was stated the concern had been forced into bankruptcy. Immediately he got into communication with Miller & Seaver, which finally led to a trip to Higginport and the acceptance of his bid for the entire stock. The bankrupt store carried a huge stock—this being the reason, it is said, for the failure. Mr. Bein stated the entire stock would be placed on sale at ridiculously low prices, because he had been enabled to buy the merchandise at a very low figure.

Scarlet Mask Play Delights Large Audience; Local Boy In Minor Role

Good comedy, sparkling action, romping about in flowing, filmy garments and stockinged legs, well-treated with powder; swinging deplandoried arms in rhythmic grace, equal to that of any classic coed on vaudeville stage, featured the annual appearance of the last night of the Scarlet Mask Dramatic Club of Ohio State University when they very successfully presented "The Cat and the Diddle," a two-act musical mystery that was witnessed by a crowd that taxed the capacity of the large auditorium. The show was given under the auspices of the local American Legion Post and was the same big success that it has been in years past. The players were highly satisfactory; there was a well-drilled chorus, the "feminine" part of which excelled in charm of face and figure many chorines of the burlesque stage and not a few of the more legitimate musical productions. In fact, to gaze on these "Hebes" from the gridiron and cinder track, the second time before he was recognized. Frederick W. Pride, who gives a splendid impersonation of "Togo" was warmly welcomed by the audience at his initial appearance. Pride knows the art of keeping in character throughout the performance and Portsmouth friends may well be proud of him. Pride is in his second year at Ohio State. He is a graduate of P. H. S. and was given a splendid reception when he appeared last night. One of the best pieces of work was that done by Sydney A. Hongland in his portrayal of "Red McGann," the crook. Albert H. Koller, as the Englishman, was also one of the bright-spots of the evening. Among the specialties John Thomas Fulton and Leroy Johnson, the "college Van and Schenk," "blues" singers, "look many bowse in one," and Herbert L. Lape and Clark G. Hader did some good dancing. The jazz band was another palpable hit. Players on the stage and alumni in the house sang college songs following the grand finale. ### NOT MEANS, BUT RESULTS

THE plan originated by Ohio farm organizations of having a procession of covered wagons converge on Washington carrying a demand for the enactment of fewer laws and lower taxes possesses novelty. The real purpose is to impress congress and the vehicles are chosen not because they are the best that may be had, but as theatrical "properties" to win the greater attention.

There may be method in the idea. Probably those who will travel in the wagons have automobiles at home and could make the trip to Washington much more easily and comfortably by motor transport but there would be no novelty in such procedure. Washington is crowded with automobiles and the only attention they might get traveling in such vehicles would be from traffic policemen. But prairie schooners in procession on Pennsylvania avenue would afford a contrast from every day sights.

At the same time it might be possible to reach the same result without resorting to theatrical ways. Were each to sit down at home and write his representative and senators telling them what one wanted in the way of reduced taxes and giving them to understand that failure would result in an altered personnel in congress at the first opportunity, were this demand presented in volume, results might be expected with confidence. The trouble in all such matters usually lies in that there is disagreement how the desired end shall be gained. Too many want their taxes reduced but others' increased. Let congress worry over the means by which the demand shall be complied with. The covered wagon delegation will be wise if it confines its demand to the simple fact and leaves ways and means to others.

RESPONSIBILITY OF PHYSICIANS

ESTIMATE recently made that 25,000 medical imposters and poorly qualified doctors have been practicing in the country is discounted by the American Medical Association, a committee of which places the number at not more than 2,500. It is noted also that annually since 1918 the official publication of the association has warned that Connecticut and Arkansas were serving as clearing houses for the low-grade and fake medical colleges. If Connecticut and Arkansas have had warning repeatedly for years of the state of affairs, there has been exhibited no speed in correcting the abuse. Yet, it is better to begin the housecleaning late than not at all.

If 2,500 imposters are operating even that number can do a great deal of harm for they are most likely to be called by those who are the least capable of differentiating between capability and the opposite. In almost any profession ignorance of qualification would be at once apparent, but to the laity the practice of medicine is much of a mystery. The patient does not know what is administered. Presumably the quacks for the most part are careful to prescribe something that will prove harmless, but that of itself might be perilous if the patient is really in need of medical treatment.

There is one phase of the position taken by the American Medical Association that appears in a degree untenable. It is contended that the organization is not charged with the duty of searching out and prosecuting the man practicing medicine without a license. That duty belongs to the police, it is averred. Certainly it is the duty of the reputable physician to use his endeavors to protect the public against imposition as it is the duty of every citizen to reveal any injustice practiced on the public. To keep his profession unsullied is not only the duty but the interest of the qualified doctor and to disclaim responsibility is to warrant its abuse. While there may not be an obligation for physicians to act as detectives there is that known quacks be exposed. One who is ill cannot afford to have treatment from less than a thoroughly capable physician and it lies with doctors not less than examining boards to insure that the public gets no less.

It was a bit mean for the Greeks to take the throne from George just at Christmas time.

If folks didn't think that religious beliefs are vital they wouldn't fight about what should be believed.

A British doctor says that golf is more beneficial to poor players than to experts. That is comforting to most players.

While frequent calamities befall the occupant of the throne of Greece, it is not as perilous a job as being president of Mexico.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTIRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Jewish Kinky Mione ended her career the other week in a hotel near Greenpoint. Jewish Kinky was neither Irish nor Jewish. She was once a beautiful Sicilian girl who was a decoy for the crooks that ran with Mother Mandelbaum's pack on the East Side.

Mother Mandelbaum was the most notorious female figure New York has ever known. Her little notion store at 79 Clinton Street was the rendezvous for daring criminals. She was the actual prototype of Frodoard in "Two Orphans". Jewish Kinky had had many offers of a stage career. She was a natural actress, and this coupled with her great beauty made her worth a big salary. But she elected to run with the pack. She loved danger and the joy of pitting wits against the best brains of Central Office.

Once she was trailed to a theater and all exits save one were guarded. That was the back stage door. Jewish Kinky waited until the lights went out for the rise of the curtain and hastily made her way back stage and passed unmolested on the door.

She was a queen and ruled in the days of Cleopatra. George Cockney Ward, Billy Train, Handsome Ike Thalia, Trever Dumber and Haymarket Red. Three men are said to have been murdered because they accepted her smiles and sought to become her sweetheart.

She was fairly cultured and always supplied with money. And then she would occupy boxes in the best theatres and she made the audience wonder who she was. Yet she went the way of all the beautiful adventuresses of the East Side. Rum and drugs!

Before she disappeared she appeared in a beer concert hall in 6th Street singing popular ditties of the day in a cracked voice. No one would applaud and the management dismissed her. Then she roamed the Bowery—one of the tattered old hags who whined for money for beer. She died with a mild cloud.

It looks as though the bobbed-hair craze is not going to go the way of the short skirt after all. Charles, who is the most famous bobber, says he has been buster this winter than ever before. One reason for the craze is the continuance of the fad is the type of close fitting bonnet that is so popular. It cannot be comfortably worn except with bobbed hair. He also reports that in one week he bobbed the snow-white hair of three ladies who are past sixty.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

Greeting to the New.

Oh, bright new Year! Harbinger of what's to come!

Successor thou of year that hath prone and numb—

Familiar one who came on aspen wing.

And goes, as other years, when death-knolls ring!

'Tis ours to greet the New, nor mourn the past,

Nor light a funeral pyre, and chance o'ercast

Or dim the goals that line thy future way.

All hail! We welcome thee upon life's stage!

Inscribe thy number on immortal page

Of history, and let it gleam as polished gold

Among the annals of the years grown old!

Hail, Nineteen Twenty-Four! A leap year too,

When fair ones may tradition's rite renew.

No wish of theirs we would have you curtail.

But let that gloried privilege prevail.

But Stop There

"When you grow up, how many children are you going to have, Dorothy?" asked one ten-year-old.

"I don't know," seriously answered the daughter of the ardent fisherman. "What's the legal limit?"

Noted German says the next war will be fought underground. If so, the shock troops should be made up of New York subway users. Then it could truly be referred to as the Big Rush. If commands were given by the subway guards, no enemy spy could understand them. The reserves would be known as the Standing Army and would be anxious to get to the Seat of War. And sardines would be the piece de resistance. Instead of salmon.

Perhaps after a time the custom of women smoking in the streets on their way to automobiles will cease. More than the bobbed-hair craze did at its inception. From any one after dinner the cigarette is as much in evidence as the lady's escort. It seems to be the smart thing to do and New Yorkers will continue to do it so long as it is smart.

At the corner of 49th Street and Fifth Avenue at a certain hour each afternoon there appears an impoverished Russian nobleman. He stands at the curb swinging his cane until a man appears along the library wall opposite. He waves his cane in a zig-zag fashion and then strolls back to his boarding house in Lexington Avenue.

Speaking of Russians, there was one in a barber shop the other day who had the black, shiny beard of a Grand Duke. It was magnificent. He ordered the barber to remove it and as he gazed in the glass at the depollation of his adornment tears ran down his cheeks. One surmises that the dubious business is not holding up. Perhaps the poor fellow must join those who roll.
